OVER THE SUMMER

GodQuest 2011 – 13 kids, 7 adults –

Thanks to kids and adults alike who contributed to GodQuest 2011. Matt Branger designed an awesome logo, which was transferred onto the bright yellow t-shirt the kids wore during the day. They received disposable cameras and were instructed to take photos of crosses, baptismal fonts and flowers ---- as well as any other place they were reminded of God on our adventure.

We had great tour guides at the Cathedral of the Madeleine and St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Salt Lake, saw beautiful flowers at the International Peace Gardens, and truly strange and unique sculptures at Gilgal Gardens. Once back at Church, the croquet set came out. The kids learned to make communion bread, and we had a moon-lit, candlelit eucharist under the stars. The kids slept well on the parish hall floor and were treated to a great

Garden last year, we expanded the size of the Garden. With the help of some local farmers we plowed and good sized plots. Some of these were subdivided and 13 separate plots. 9 of our Gardeners attend ECOR, the community, and I belongs to our Sunday School. work party Saturdays to spread manure into the estate spaces and do some roto-tilling. With our long cool, the Garden got a slow start, but has come into its own few weeks of great weather. The produce will be enjoyed with the excess donated to the Bountiful Food Pantry to have a pot luck BBQ with the Gardeners in September we pull the Garden out for the year. We have a waiting more Gardeners, and intend to enlarge the Garden a Spring. We'll keep you posted in case you'd like to take
